

Videorecording License

Upon approval of the publisher and payment of the requisite fee, you (or a person authorized by you) may make a non-commercial videorecording of your production for your personal or archival use, subject to the following terms and conditions:

- A copy of the videorecording may be distributed to the director, stage manager(s), cast members and crew for their personal, non-commercial use. If a fee is charged for the copy, the fee must be solely to cover the cost of the blank media used to make the copy.
- Copies of the videorecording may not be made available (either for sale or for free) to the general public.
- The videorecording may not be broadcast (commercially or otherwise) or made available on the internet without prior written permission, except in the following case:

A single excerpt up to five minutes in duration may be posted on the internet on a video sharing website such as YouTube®, or posted on the website of the producing group. In such cases, the following text must clearly and legibly appear either at the beginning or the end of the excerpt:

“Courtesy of Theatrefolk (www.theatrefolk.com)”